City of Cheney 72-Hour On-Street Parking Ordinance

You may have noticed signs posted around the city that limit the amount of time a vehicle may park on the street. What many people don’t realize is that regardless of whether or not there is any sign posted, the City’s Municipal Code does not allow a vehicle to be parked on a city street for longer than 72 hours. The Municipal Code also prohibits junk motor vehicles or vehicles identified “For Sale” from being left on our streets. In addition, vehicle repairs such as oil or tire changes are not allowed on the street. The Cheney Police Department routinely enforces these laws and also responds to specific cases when alerted by complaints from the public.

Sometimes the ordinary parking restrictions on a street may change, such as to allow street cleaning, snow removal, construction activity, special events or other unusual circumstances that require that the street be cleared of parked vehicles. When this happens, official signs (easels, barricades, or other temporary signage) will be posted announcing the temporary change to parking restrictions with the dates and times when no parking is allowed. In some cases these signs may be set up with as little as 24-hour advance notice. Vehicles must be moved by the time indicated or drivers may receive a citation and their vehicle may be towed. In the event of a snow emergency, vehicles that are considered a hazard may be removed without advance warning.

Although some people may not use their vehicles on a regular basis (and therefore leave them parked on the street), the vehicles must still be
